Progress This Week

This week I started to convert the 2D shallow water test program to work with my pass. In doing so, I have added annotations to the code, and was able to get one file to be fully annotated. This test has given me a much better understanding of the program, and allowed me to find bugs, and misunderstandings throughout my pass which I have fixed in many cases.

Aims For Next Week

Next week, I plan to:

- Continue with my work to convert the 2D shallow water program Medium
- Clean my code more, aiming to decrease the number of lines, and improve maintainability Medium

Questions

At the moment I have no questions.
